1. Jet fighters with rather high and angular rudder assemblies but no sweep back to the wings were seen over Orel (36°5'E/52°57'N), Orel Oblast, between November 1948 and October 1949. Two barrels, apparently aircraft cannon, protruded from each wing. *
2. Drop-shaped attachments, each about 100 cm long, 50 to 60 cm high in front and 10 to 15 cm at the rear, were observed at the wing tips. **

25X1A

* Comment. The type of aircraft cannot be determined from the description. The main feature of the Mig-9 or Yak-15, the power plant in the fuselage step, was not mentioned. The spade-shaped rudder assembly which was first used on jet planes with swept-back wings is not correct for the jet aircraft type without sweep back.

25X1A Comment. The wing tip tanks are described more accurately as 25X1 may have been such tanks on aircraft of US make. The estimated dimensions, however, are believed to be incorrect.

25X1A [redacted] Comment: The above information refers to the "novel" type aircraft [redacted]
